PRESIDENT'S REPORT

by Knox H. Tumlin, Architect, FCSI,
CDT, NCARB, AIA

2008 has been a productive year for your State Board. The Board continues to support and nurture the Intern Development Program. Through the hard work and planning of Marsha Cuddeback, State Intern Development Program Coordinator, and several Board Members, a highly successful statewide LA IDP Forum 2008 was held. A workshop on the forum was given at the national NCARB Conference in June. The framework of the LA forum is now a model for IDP forums in other states.

With the assistance of Representative Scott Simon and AIA Louisiana, House Bill 728 was passed and subsequently signed by Governor Jindal. This bill, now part of the State Registration Laws and Regulations, allows graduates of an accredited School of Architecture to take the Architectural Registration Examination upon enrollment in the Intern Development Program. The Board continues to nurture the goal of all architectural students being enrolled in the IDP Program prior to graduation. License to practice architecture in the State of Louisiana will be issued after passage of the ARE and completion of the Intern Development Program. It will probably be within the next few months before the new procedure is implemented.

The Board has lost its first Public Member, John Cardone of Lake Charles, as his name was not submitted by the Governor's Office for Senate confirmation. Mr. Cardone was initially appointed in 2002 and reappointed by Governor Blanco at the end of 2007. John was a very active Board Member who displayed professional and ethical qualities during his term and will be missed immensely by the Board and Staff.

Once again our Executive Director, Teeny Simmons, has achieved another honor as being the first Member Board Executive elected to NCARB's Southern Conference Board of Directors. Last year she was awarded NCARB President's Medal of Honor. With 33 years of service she is the longest serving MBE in NCARB history and possibly the State's history of Licensing Board Executives.

During 2008, I have had the pleasure of being associated with a hard working staff, Board Attorney and very conscientious Board Members. The staff and Board Members are currently working on implementing an electronic on-line registration process and expect to start beta testing of same shortly.

The Board continues to take its assigned function and role to safeguard life, health and property and to promote the public welfare very seriously and routinely deals with complaints and possible infringement or violation of the State Architectural Registration Laws and Regulations.

RENEWAL DEADLINE December 31, 2008

There will be no paper renewal forms mailed out this year. All current registrants are to renew on line beginning November 1, 2008. For further information please note page 11 ONLINE RENEWALS.

"Teeny's Tidings "

The last article I wrote began with tidings of gratefulness for progress from Hurricanes Katrina and Rita and now again, tidings of gratefulness for recovery from Hurricanes Gustav and Ike. Architects are brilliant people so I am now waiting for one of you to design a way to keep hurricanes from blowing our way. So many lessons learned and implemented for this hurricane season. Louisiana people, especially architects, are resilient and hope this newsletter finds everyone doing well.

250 year old Oak uprooted at the Louisiana State Capitol

It has been a while, but I'd like to begin by complimenting and thanking our staff for always working so hard while at the same time keeping customer service foremost in their minds. Mary always does an outstanding job putting our newsletter together. Her primary job is being in charge of renewals, issuing initial licenses, keeping up with posting rule changes, preparation and maintenance of continuing education audits and newsletter. Anita is wanting to make thirty years of service in 2009. She is in charge of keeping our finances straight, preparing checks and monthly reports, preparation for annual audit and board minutes, and helping ARE/IDP candidates. They are both cross trained to take over when one has to be out of the office. Cheryl has been part time with us for the past 14 years and is constantly purging the files and maintaining our electronic equipment. The many compliments we receive at the office can be attributed to our dedicated staff. Thanks ladies for all you do. I would be remiss not to mention our Board Attorney and IDP State Coordinator. Paul Spaht has served this board for 26 years and his hard work and guidance has kept your board's operations "legal" within the realm of its licensing law and rules. I feel certain he is the longest serving attorney in the country. Marsha Cuddeback replaced Dave Brinson, who was the longest serving IDP State Coordinator in the country, in 2005 and has done an outstanding job in keeping IDP's importance in the forefront of the students and architectural community of the state as well as the country, especially facilitating the '08 IDP Forum. Ken Schwartz, new Dean at Tulane, told me he recently bragged on the board office at the AIALA Design Conference and I feel the key has been the longevity of our staff. To all our registered architects, we thank you for your help and encouragement through the years. Our continued goal is to serve you and the public to the best of our ability. Three significant issues this year was the 2008 IDP Forum, early entry into the Architects Registration Examination and the ability to renew on line, all of which are addressed elsewhere in this issue.

Teeny Simmons, Executive Director of Louisiana State Board of Architectural Examiners and Lynn Robertson, Executive Director of AIA Louisiana addressing group at IDP Forum 2008.

A MESSAGE FROM PAUL SPAHT

Board Attorney

The Board has been quite busy on a number of matters involving legal issues. A few of those will be discussed here.

On-line renewal – The Board is implementing on-line renewal of individual registration. As a condition for renewing registration, the Licensing Law and board rules require completion of a minimum of twelve (12) continuing education hours in health, safety and welfare, and on-line renewal will require all architects to certify that this requirement has been met. Please remember that the board rules provide:

Any untrue or false statement or the use thereof with respect to course attendance or any other aspect of continuing educational activity is fraud or misrepresentation and will subject the architect and/or program sponsor to license revocation or other disciplinary action.

On-line renewal will also require each architect to certify certain information concerning his or her moral fitness and to provide information concerning his or her firm.

Firm practice – As many of you know, there currently exist huge differences among the states concerning the registration and practice of architecture by architectural firms, and the Board has spent many hours discussing what requirements, if any, should be required for such practice in Louisiana. This discussion is complicated because the legislature has already enacted laws governing the practice by professional architectural corporations, architectural-engineering corporations, and limited liability companies, and the requirements for each are quite different. After lengthy discussions with the directors of other licensing boards and many others, the Board decided that it should not adopt the proposed rules published in 2007 in the Louisiana Register concerning firm practice by limited liability companies and partnerships only. Instead, the Board decided that all architectural firms (professional architectural corporations, architectural-engineering corporations, limited liability companies, partnerships, limited partnerships, and any other entities) should be treated the same. Since the legislature has enacted different requirements for practice by some of these entities, legislative action may be required. Since Katrina and Rita (and now with Gustav and Ike) and the huge rebuilding effort currently taking place in Louisiana, this has become an increasingly important issue.

ARE/IDP – As mentioned by Knox Tumlin in his President's Report, legislation was enacted in 2008 allowing graduates of an accredited architectural school to take the ARE upon enrollment in IDP. A license to practice architecture in Louisiana will be issued after passage of the ARE and completion of IDP. This change was supported by the architectural schools in Louisiana, graduate architects, practicing architects, AIA-Louisiana, and others. Louisiana was one of the first states to enact this legislation, since NCARB's resolution, but it is anticipated that many other states will do the same.

Architects Selection Board – The prohibition against doing state work is a significant deterrent for many architects who might otherwise eagerly serve on the Louisiana Architects Selection Board, and as a result no architect sought nomination to two of the vacancies on this board occurring on September 15 of this year. By statute, the Board is charged with the responsibility of conducting an election to fill vacancies upon the LASB. Of course, no election can occur if no one seeks to serve. To assist in filling these important positions, the board adopted an emergency rule in August of 2008, and it is in the process of adopting a permanent rule. A copy of the Notice of Intent is on page 8 of this newsletter.

Questions concerning individual and firm registration, practice, and violations – Much of each Board meeting involves discussing and answering questions from architects concerning individual and firm practice, registration, possible violations of the licensing law or board rules, continuing education, and other such issues. If you have a question, you may want to ask the Board for an answer or guidance. If you suspect a violation of the law or rules, you may provide information, and your name will be held in confidence, if requested. The Board is charged with the responsibility of protecting the public health, safety and welfare, and your involvement is needed and invited.

NEW AND NOTEWORTHY

IDP | ARE Concurrent Timing

The LA State Board approved the ARE IDP Concurrent Timing proposal in December 2007. Interns/graduates may now begin taking the ARE following graduation from a NAAB Accredited degree program AND completion of an NCARB Record Application (<http://www.ncarb.org/RecordApp/recordsvc/login.aspx>), i.e., enrolled for IDP. There are no changes to IDP. Registration will be granted AFTER the successful completion of BOTH the ARE and the IDP.

Employment Duration Requirements

To earn Training Units in any work setting other than F (a post-professional degree or teaching or research) or FF, you must work at least 32 hours per week (full-time) for a minimum period of eight consecutive weeks or at least 15 hours per week (part-time) for a minimum period of eight consecutive weeks. To earn Training Units for teaching or research, you must be employed on a full-time basis.

Training Units for LEED AP Exam

In March, the Committee on IDP determined that interns are eligible to earn five training units (TUs) in supplementary education for successful completion of the LEED AP Exam in their support of sustainable design. To receive credit, "LEED AP Exam" should be indicated on line 17 of the training unit report and five TUs should be indicated in the supplementary education column. Interns must also submit a copy of the official score report from the U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC) with their training unit report.

EPC Credit for Minimum Training Unit Requirements

Beginning 1 July 2009, interns will be able to earn a maximum of five training units per training area through the EPC as part of their minimum training unit requirements in each training area. The intern's supervisor must review the exercises as part of his or her process of signing the training unit forms, as is currently the case when the EPC is used for supplementary education units. Exercises completed above the maximum of five training units in each training area may still be submitted for supplementary education credit. The requirement that 235 training units be earned in the traditional office setting is unaffected by this change.

Six-Month Reporting Rule

Resolution 2008-07 will be phased in over two years. It requires interns establishing a new NCARB Record on or after 1 July 2009 to submit training reports of no more than six-months duration by submitting a form within two months of the end of the reporting period. On 1 July 2010, one full year later, the "Six-Month Rule" will apply to all interns.

NCARB Online Application for NCARB Record

Interns and students can fill out the application for an NCARB Record to begin the Intern Development Program (IDP) online. The recent online application reduces the time it takes to establish an NCARB Record to one week or less. The electronic version of the application is the first step in changing how NCARB processes and maintains Records for Interns. Visit www.ncarb.org/forms/index.html.

CALL FOR LOUISIANA IDP AUXILIARY COORDINATORS

IDP Auxiliary Coordinators are individuals who volunteer to educate their local professional community about the Internship Development Program, support awareness and implementation, and disseminate the latest IDP news, tools and resources. Auxiliary Coordinators are most often associated with, but not limited to, an architecture firm, a non-accredited school of architecture, a local AIA chapter, a state board, or an AIAS chapter, and all IDP Auxiliary Coordinators are encouraged to attend the annual IDP Coordinators Conference. If you or someone in your firm is interested in volunteering or would like additional information please contact the State IDP Coordinator (louisianaaidp@gmail.com).

LOUISIANA IDP FORUM 2008

Emerging professionals are the cornerstone for tomorrow's architectural practice and their success is dependent on today's professional community; acknowledging future trends in education, internship and practice, creating a responsive and fluid practice environment, and integrating the voice of diverse professional constituents. In January 2008, over 90 members of Louisiana's professional community gathered for the Louisiana IDP Forum 2008 to exchange ideas, to strengthen participant's knowledge base about IDP, the path to licensure, and future trends, and to develop momentum for creating an active and accessible support structure for Louisiana's students, interns, professionals, and firms. Participants included a diverse cross-section of professionals and interns from across the state of Louisiana, student AIAS/NOMAS officers from each of Louisiana's five NAAB accredited architecture degree programs, Board members from the Louisiana State Board of Architectural Examiners, representatives from AIA Louisiana, and NCARB's Intern Development Program Director, Harry M. Falconer, Jr. This unprecedented event, sponsored by the LSBAE and AIA LA, demonstrated the need for improved communication among stakeholders, resulting in stronger dialog among professionals, interns and students, an increased commitment by firms and professionals to support the statewide community of emerging professionals, the renewal of enthusiasm by interns to complete their requirements for licensure, and recommendations for improving the efficacy of IDP statewide.

The Forum provided opportunities for reengaging the diverse voices that represent our profession, evaluate statewide initiatives, appreciate the value of applied research for comprehensive internships and improved recruitment and retention, create capacity for leadership that builds momentum, and renew a commitment to ensure a sustainable practice environment for our emerging professionals.

The proceedings from the LA IDP Forum 2008 will be available on November 1, 2008. If you would like a digital copy of the proceedings, please contact the State IDP Coordinator at louisianaidp@gmail.com. The next LA IDP Forum will be held in January 2010.

NCARB ANNUAL MEETING 2008

"The Intern Development Program (IDP) took center stage at the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards' (NCARB) 2008 Annual Meeting and Conference in Pittsburgh, PA." (NCARB Newsclip) In addition to approving a number of resolutions related to IDP program improvement, the Louisiana IDP Forum 2008 was showcased as a best practice model for statewide initiatives during an hour-long workshop.

NOTICE OF INTENT
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
BOARD OF ARCHITECTURAL EXAMINERS

Under the authority of La. R.S. 37:144(C) and in accordance with the provisions of La. R.S. 49:951 et seq., the Board of Architectural Examiners ("board") gives notice that rule making procedures have been initiated for the amendment of LAC 46:1 Chapter 21, §2117. This rule sets forth a procedure for filling a vacancy which occurs concerning any person elected to the Louisiana Architects Selection Board ("LASB"). However, the board currently has no rule concerning any vacancy on the LASB that may occur if no one submits a nomination for election to the LASB at all, or if the nominee withdraws his or her nomination before being elected or appointed. The proposed rule will allow the board to fill such vacancies. In addition, if only one qualified architect seeks nomination to the LASB so that his or her nomination is unopposed, the proposed rule will allow the executive director to notify that architect of his or her appointment to the LASB without any further board action. The proposed amendment has no known impact on family formation, stability, or economy, as described in La. R.S. 49:972.

ARCHITECT REGISTRATION EXAMINATION AND IDP SIX-MONTH NEWS FROM NCARB

Louisiana allows early access to the ARE. You are able to take advantage of NCARB's new online system to request an Authorization to Test. You must have an active NCARB Record and have fulfilled Louisiana's requirement of graduation from an NAAB (National Architectural Accrediting Board) accredited university and enrolled in the Intern Development Program. You can place your request through the "My NCARB Record" section of our web site. It's quick and easy!

Here's what you do:

1. Log into your account at www.ncarb.org.
2. Click "Request Transmittal of Record".
3. Check the box "Do you want to take the ARE?"
4. Select the jurisdiction in which you would like to test and click transmit.
5. If you fulfill all of your jurisdiction's requirements, an e-mail will be sent instantly to your state board for them to grant their authorization. For NCARB Direct Registration states, notification will be sent to NCARB to grant your authorization to test. *
6. You will receive an e-mail notification and your Authorization to Test number will be sent to you directly (by mail) if you are eligible. You may wish to review the Registration Requirements link on our web site or contact your board to determine the criteria required to test.

This new online tool should be used by all interns requesting an Authorization to Test. It was specifically built to speed up the process for jurisdictions that have adopted early eligibility rules, but will ultimately enhance all requests for this service.

Applicants will be required to pay the full $285 Record fee prior to completion of the request for an Authorization to Test.

IDP REPORTING "Six-Month Rule"

In June, the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards' (NCARB) Member Boards passed a rule requiring interns to submit their training units in reporting periods of no longer than six months. The "Six-Month Rule," as it has been nicknamed, will go into effect on 1 July 2009 for interns who begin an NCARB Record on or after that date and 1 July 2010 for all interns regardless of application date. All training unit reports must be submitted electronically and within two months of completion of each reporting period.

Things Supervisors and Interns Should Know:

- The "Six-Month Rule" is designed to improve both the accuracy of reporting and the overall IDP experience.

- The IDP Guidelines have long recommended that interns submit reports to NCARB every four months. Under the new rule, interns will be required to report training units earned in intervals of no more than six months. However, they can submit reports more often if they wish.
- Regular reporting will provide an opportunity for interns and supervisors to review progress made over reporting periods and develop a plan for acquiring training in the remaining areas. This benefit should help prevent interns from being surprised by falling short of required training units as they near the end of their internship. Supervisors will also be more familiar with the work documented and therefore would be more likely to approve training reports.
- Implementation of the "Six-Month Rule" is dependent on an online reporting system. The electronic Experience Verification Reporting system (e-EVR) will be available by the end of December, but the "Six-Month Rule" will not go into effect until at least six months after the online reporting system is launched. Should the new system not be fully tested and operational by 31 December 2008, each implementation date will be pushed back and will go into effect six months after the system is operational.
- Once interns have submitted their training units by entering them into their Record online, those units are protected while any loose ends are tied up. Interns will not be affected by any delay caused by their supervisor or NCARB. However, submitted training units can be lost if they are deemed invalid by their supervisor, or if they are not earned in accordance with the rules of IDP.
- The "Six-Month Rule" allows a parent of newborn infants or newly adopted children to receive a six-month extension of the reporting deadline upon proper application. Extensions for active military service and serious medical conditions are also available.

All of the provisions of the "Six-Month Rule" are designed to make every internship experience more constructive and valuable. The rule will greatly improve the accuracy of reporting, which should help reduce the amount of time it takes interns to complete the IDP.

If your initial registration date is January 1, 2008 or thereafter you are automatically exempt from reporting continuing education when you renew for 2009; however, when you renew for 2010 you must provide proof of 12 hrs continuing education in Health, Safety and Welfare. Emeritus status is also exempt from continuing education requirements unless the emeritus architect returns to practice.

Individuals may also apply for an exemption from the continuing education requirement for the following reasons: military or any hardship due to serious illness, injury or extenuating circumstances which prevent the architect from complying with the Board rule, however, prior approval is needed from the Board.

Of the twelve (12) required CEH, a minimum of eight (8) CEH must be obtained in Structured Educational Activities. No more than four (4) may be obtained in Individually Planned Educational Activities. If an architect exceeds the requirements in any renewal period (January 1 - December 31), the architect may carry-over a maximum of twelve (12) CEH to the subsequent renewal period.
